Two Late Morrisville
Residents

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 26 — Bequests for two churches and the Bucks County Historical Society were contained in wills probated in the Register of Wills office here.

Copies of Sir John Froissart's historical chronicles, published in 1843, which contain the history of England, France, Spain and other countries, were bequeathed to the historical society by Lillian A. Montague, Solebury township. Her other books were bequeathed to the New Hope Library.

Leaving a personal estate of $1200 and real estate valued at $4000, the testatrix created a trust fund for the benefit of various relatives in England with Mollie Woods Hare and Marie S. Ralston in charge.

The will, which was executed November 3, 1941, contained various stipulations for relatives residing in England who will inherit silverware and heirlooms. The testatrix, who died Nov. 19, owned real estate in Lumberville, and named Mollie W. Hare, Marie S. Ralston and Arthur M. Eastburn executrices and executor respectively.

Pearson Lear, Durham township, who died Nov. 20, when his house was destroyed by fire, bequeathed the residue of his $8,000 personal and $2,000 real estate holdings in trust to Durham Lutheran congregation with the stipulation that the interest be paid to the church council.

The testator, who executed his will September 1, 1934, also left $50 to Durham Union Cemetery. His wife, Annie E. Lear, who died in February, had been named the beneficiary Levi D. Stever, Springtown, was named executor.

With the stipulation that it be used for the carpet fund, Lizzie E. King, of Bristol, who left a personal estate of $3274 and real estate valued at $4200, bequeathed $100 to the Bristol Presbyterian Church. In the will, which was executed February 4, 1936, the Bristol Cemetery was bequeathed $200.

The testatrix, who died Nov. 13, bequeathed the residue in trust to her daughter, Clara E. King, with the reservation that it provide an

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

"True Liberalism"

Washington, Dec. 24. BECAUSE, in every speech or statement he makes, Ex-Governor Harold Stassen invariably refers to himself as a "liberal," expresses his determination to make the Republican party "liberal" and emphasizes "true liberalism," the erroneous impression has gained ground with some that Mr. Stassen is a radical very much inclined toward the extreme labor wing.

THE reason for this, of course, is that in the last decade the word "liberal" long has been pre-empted by the CIO labor demagogues, their Communist allies of the American Labor party and politicians of the Wallace, Pepper, Guffey breed. It has been so continuously mouthed by the political and journalistic mountebanks of the left that it is not surprising its inordinate use by Mr. Stassen should create the feeling that this is the element to which he made primary appeal and whose support he most earnestly sought.

ALSO, this being the group most thoroughly repudiated by the country in the last election, the more solid of Mr. Stassen's friends naturally have been somewhat disturbed over the spread of that idea, for which, they contend, there is no real base. It is interesting to note that in his most recent utterances Mr. Stassen very effectively made this plain. It is true he again harped upon the words which, meaningless as they have become, seem to have an irresistible allure for him. However, he made it completely clear he has no alliance

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Approximately 200 persons attended the annual banquet of Doylestown Lodge, No. 245, F. & A. M., in Educational Hall of Doylestown Presbyterian Church, Friday evening.

Serving as master of ceremonies was the retiring worshipful master, H. Edward Schanbacher, who introduced the officers-elect and a number of guests, including the officers of other lodges in the district.

Among the new officers introduced were the worshipful master, Edwin Scarborough, and the junior warden, Dr. Stanley Heilerman.

The guest speaker was Rev. Clarence Rahn, of Temple, who took as his subject, "Wooden Pegs."

Mrs. Sarah Catherine Judd, 85, a native of Nockamixon township and the wife of Clayton Judd, Hellertown, died Friday in St. Luke's Hospital, Bethlehem, to which she was admitted two weeks ago to receive treatment for a fractured hip suffered in a fall at her home.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Samuel and Sarah (nee Trauger) Steeley.

Mrs. Judd before moving to Hellertown 46 years ago, lived in Durham. She and Mr. Judd celebrated their 66th wedding anniversary on October 9th.

Surviving besides the husband are nine children.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

An unarmed American naval craft that had taken diplomatic mail and supplies to Dalien pulled out of that Manchurian "free port" following a Russian ultimatum that "unless you leave within 20 minutes we will not be responsible for the consequences." The ship had overstayed its time by 29 minutes while the United States Consul fruitlessly sought permission for an American business man and two newspaper correspondents to land. Washington has asked for a full report.

Further south on the Asiatic coast fighting continued between Viet Nam rebels and French garrisons. Premier Blum told the French Assembly that the situation was serious and might grow worse, but was not alarming. He dispatched General LeClerc to Indo-China to take full charge.

Protracted debate has delayed for two days a vote on adoption of the draft Constitution by China's National Assembly.

General McNarney, it was forecast, will announce a Christmas amnesty tonight for about 1,000,000 nominal Nazis, or one-third of all Nazis in the American zone.

Delegates to the Zionist Congress in Basle, Switzerland, met in final session to act upon a commission report condemning terrorism in Palestine and other matters.

Two Cars Crash; One Rams Beaver St. Porch

Two cars crashed and one rammed into a porch of a house on Beaver street, early last evening. None of the occupants of either car was injured.

A car operated by Eric Giles, 94 Bloomsdale Road, and one driven by Robert L. Moore, 342 Monroe street, figured in the crash.

The Giles car was going north on Beaver street and when near the intersection of Prospect street swerved to the left to avoid hitting two persons who were getting into another car.

At this point the car driven by Moore, travelling south on Beaver street, collided with the Giles car, jumped the curb, crashed into the porch of the residence of Ernest Sutton, 617 Beaver street, and turned over. Both cars were damaged as well as the porch. Passengers of the cars were shaken up but not injured. It is reported.

BLIND GROUP HAS A JOLLY TIME AT PARTY

Santa Spends Two Hours
With Them in Doylestown Banquet Room

ALL PARTS OF BUCKS

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 24 — In a banquet room at the Fountain House Thursday evening, Santa Claus made merry with a small group of blind people when a dinner was given in their honor.

The party was made possible by a group of "friends of the blind," it being a dinner for employees of Bucks Co. Branch of the Penna. Association for the Blind.

A William Lohler, who on October 1, 1945, assumed duties as the executive secretary of the Bucks County Branch, promised more social activities for the blind in 1947, including a dinner party at the Chalfont Hotel in January.

The blind guests were from Yardley, Quakertown, Wycombe, Newportville, Trumbauersville, Perkasie and Doylestown.

The sightless enjoyed the evening with directors of the organization and a few other guests.

During the evening, Joseph R. Kenny, toastmaster, and a member of the board, presented Christmas gifts of nylon hosiery, dusting powder, cologne, scarfs, candy, fruit cakes and a $5 bill to each one of the blind women employees; and a scarf, necktie, handkerchiefs, gloves, the pins, socks, penknives, fruit cake and candy and a $5 bill to each blind male employee.

One blind employee who had stayed at home for 20 years and did nothing, thanked Secretary Lohler for what he had done for him.

Frank L. Worthington, of Doylestown, president, was presented a large oak gavel made by the blind. Mrs. David M. Sheerer, Jr., Bristol Township, vice-president, told the blind group that she was deeply impressed by this party and that she hoped to be able to organize the blind in the Bristol section very shortly.

Other board members present included: Mrs. J. Carroll Molloy, Jr., Doylestown, secretary; Mrs. A. Russell Thomas, Doylestown; Robert Moyer, of the Perkasie Lions Club; Mrs. Frank X. Shelley, Doylestown, and Joseph R. Kenny.

NO GARBAGE COLLECTION

There will not be a collection of garbage on Christmas Day. The next collection of garbage will be on Friday of this week.

THE PRINCE OF PEACE

Tomorrow is the birthday of The Prince of Peace.

The season is a proper one for all men of good will to devote a few moments to the question of how His ideals are faring in our modern world.

Is peace at hand? Is it in sight?

Eighteen months ago, there was ended the most terrible, bloody, destructive and costly war the world has ever known. Like its predecessor of a generation ago, World War I, it was fought out in the faith that it would be a "war to end wars"—that it was to result in "a just and lasting peace."

Was that war in vain? Are other still more total wars ahead?

No one can yet know the answer. It would be absurd to say that peace has been found. As was said in the early days of our own Revolution, "They cry 'peace! peace!'—but there is no peace."

Civil war rages in China. It is brewing in Jerusalem, being fomented in Spain. Strife and bloodshed continue in Greece, Egypt, French Indo-China, the Philippines, Poland, the Dutch East Indies. In a host of other areas, they can flare without warning.

Elements of dissention and disharmony are visible in our own land. Social unrest, a constant trend to reliance on force, a ferment of agitation, a smouldering of a great economic upheaval—these cannot escape attention. The theory of labor bossism continues to challenge democracy. The government itself is in a tug-of-war between two political parties.

The two other great nations of the world, the Russian and British empires, face similar explosive internal forces. Russia, an overgrown dictatorship, scarred by war, relying for her economy on mass slavery and continued expansion, with the aging Stalin as the only visible thread to hold things together, presses her "ideology" on the rest of the world all the more vigorously as its failure within her borders becomes more acute.

Great Britain, who may yet turn out to be the most impressive war casualty of all, stands midway between Communism and freedom; hesitant and reluctant, drifting rather than plunging towards the chasm of dictatorship.

These are not pretty details in a picture which is far from optimistic.

AGED MUSICIAN GIVES IMPROMPTU CONCERT

Earns More Than Enough
For the "5-Cent" Cup of Coffee He Ordered

GOES HAPPILY ON WAY

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 24 — When William J. Brown, Philadelphia, ordered a cup of coffee in a local hotel lunch room and was told it cost a dime he offered to sweep the floor for a nickel's worth. A nickel was all he'd pay.

The white-haired traveller, who carried with him a duffle bag and a mandolin offered to give a short concert in order to make a little extra money. Several G.I.'s urged him to stage an afternoon recital.

The 70-odd-year old minstrel, who carried a cane with a red ribbon tied to it, played several numbers on his mandolin and then passed "his blue, velvet hat." A bus driver tossed in the first coin.

The Lackawanna Trail troupe played "Washington and Lee Swing," "Springtime in The Rockies," "Moonlight and Roses" and "Over the Waves." Recognition of the numbers made him very happy.

Following the presentation of the musical numbers, about 12 or 15 lunch room customers dropped in dimes and other small change and Mr. Brown said he could travel farther up the line.

He possessed one bus ticket to Pipersville, but with the additional obligation he asked for a ticket to Riegelsville.

When the silver-haired music maker left the lunchroom, there were just as many cigar butts on the floor as when he came in because instead of "singing for his supper" he literally strummed his way out.

For a few minutes he created a mood of real Christmas friendliness and gaiety among the men and women and when he slung the duffle bag over his shoulder and strutted out with his cane, which resembled a candy one decorated for a Christmas tree, coffee was being ordered and sold at a dime without a complaint!

SHEPHERDS LODGE PARTY

Shepherds Delight Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem, held a Christmas party Thursday evening in Bracken Post Home. Members exchanged gifts and enjoyed a platter lunch. The supreme deputy from Mt. Holly, N. J., presented his commission. Guests were present from Princeton, Mt. Holly, Burlington, N. J., and Philadelphia.

Ohio's two Senators, Bricker and Taft, both with 1948 Presidential aspirations, will meet soon to decide which shall be the State's "favorite son." Senator Taft has decided to become chairman of the new Labor and Welfare Committee.

The Supreme Court again broadened the appeal of John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers to embrace the restraining order issued against permitting the soft-coal strike to become effective.

Retail food prices reached a record high during the month ended November 15th, a Labor Department survey disclosed. Since then a slow downward trend has been indicated.

To Extend Bus Routes Out Rodgers Road Sunday

An extension of territory covered by Neibauer buses was announced today, when a spokesman for the company made public the fact that new bus routes will be extended out Rodgers Road, serving the residents of that road through Winder Village. Extension will be effective next Sunday.

The announcement states that residents of Rodgers Road, Winder Village, Bristol Terrace, Fleetings Estates and the community of Bristol will be pleased with the bus service providing transportation between these areas.

Complete schedules and route map will appear in The Courier on Friday, the bus management states.

The extension of the bus service to the Winder Village section will prove undoubtedly a great convenience to residents in that area, as it will provide them with quick transportation to Bristol, Philadelphia, Trenton, and other areas covered by the Neibauer buses.

Group: "Little Tin Train." Charlotte Stake, Frank Baker, Hannah Giberson, and William Feehly; song, "Up On The Housetop." Group: "Midnight in Toyland." Barbara Forestal, Thomas Roberts, Loretta Paoe, and John Baker; "The Christmas Story." Ella Trimble, Robert Walterick, Wayne Stake, Charles Martine, Michael Piccoli, and Sharon Rosser; recitation, "Santa's Toyshop." Group:

Miss S. Elsie Ettenger, teacher of the intermediate room, trained her pupils to present a play, "The Blue Vase." Characters were portrayed by Rose Ann Tumminia, Edward Paolella, Joseph Scancelli, Lewis Green, Joseph DiNatali, James Rappe, and Margaret Feehly.

The junior room program, prepared by Mrs. George Colville, consisted of group songs, "Cantique de Noel," and the Latin version of "Adeste Fideles." These were followed by the play, "What the Stars Saw." Scene 1 was placed in the House of the Man in the Moon, with Dorothy Pope representing the Star of Bethlehem; other "stars" being Virginia Gibson, Pauline Byers, Dolores Miller, Irene Banes, Marie Burton, Joseph Tormyna, Kenneth Stake, and Ray Burton. "Billy" Trimble played the part of the Man in the Moon, with the Old Woman being "Tony" Mazzocchi; Robert, by Glenn Gerhart; "Jackie" Swangler and "Jackie" Walterick; peddler, David Gibson; basket children, John Chase and Paul Grady. Scene 2 was of the Nativity with Mary portrayed by Irene Banes; Joseph by Glenn Gerhart; angels, Dolores Miller and Marie Burton.

Dinner Here Precedes Newport Rd. Chapel Party

With covers arranged for 17, members of the Ladies' Aid of Newport Road Community Chapel partook of a holiday dinner at the Keystone Hotel on Friday evening.

Returning to the chapel the women indulged in a party, with exchange of humorous and other gifts. Mrs. J. Oliver Bowers, the retiring president, was presented with a check, and to her co-officers she gave gifts. New officers were introduced, they including: President, Mrs. Russell Straub; vice-president, Mrs. Robert Schrey; treasurer, Mrs. Harry Zobel; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Holeman.

A "birthday" cake marked the "Pollyanna" anniversary. The chapel was attractively decorated for the season.

Refreshments of cake, ice cream and coffee were served. A guest at the party was Mrs. Ralph Foster.

Girls and Boys Gather For Bensalem Parties

A party was tendered 140 children of Edgington by the Edgington Fire Co. on Friday. Carols were sung, moving pictures shown, and refreshments served. Santa Claus presented each child with a box of candy. On Sunday, Santa visited the homes of the children who were unable to attend the party.

The Christmas party given by Ladies' Auxiliary, Cornwells Union Fire Co. took place on Sunday evening in the fire station in Cornwells Manor, 102 children attending.

Santa Claus presented each child with a gift and candy. Refreshments were served. The youngsters provided a variety of entertainment. Mrs. William Drumm was chairman of the committee, with Mrs. Kenneth Young and Mrs. Walter Tilley assisting.

INCAPACITATED BOY KNOWS IT'S CHRISTMAS

"Bob" Hardy is Showered
With Gifts to Make Time
Abed Pass Quickly

IS EXPECTING SANTA

"Bob" Hardy thinks it must be Christmas—and he's right!

The reason for one of Bristol's popular newboys coming to this conclusion after eight months incapacity due to a hip ailment is that Santa Claus' helpers have been showering gifts upon him, and it is whispered that the jolly old fellow will make a personal appearance at the Hardy home this evening.

So, not only "Bob," Jr., but his mother, Mrs. Robert W. Hardy, and the little Hardys are agog over the promised visit. "Bob's" little four-year old brother, "Johnny," isn't sure whether he should wait up for Santa Claus, or if it would be better for Santa to find him already in bed and at least feigning sleep. It's a big problem for he wants Santa to bring him a "little truck."

"Yes, a group of friends sent me a 25-pound turkey," beamed "Bob," aged 16, and he quickly added, "Show it to the reporter, Ma. It's bigger than me."

To make "Bob" more comfortable and to aid his mother in caring for him, other friends have sent gifts such as a bed-table and a pin-up lamp. The bed-table is the gift of neighbors whom "Bob" served daily papers to before he was

Makes His Rounds With Bonuses, Gifts of Employers of Area

SOME, WEEK'S SALARY

Turkeys Are Gifts for Some Employees; Dinner-Parties Also Arranged

Laden with bills and coins, good old Saint Nicholas is jingling the lure right into the stockings of employees of firms in the Bristol area.

He's making his annual rounds distributing Christmas bonuses arranged by officials of plants in this vicinity, some having been given out Friday and others followed later.

Bancroft-Hickey Mfg. Co. arranged to present each employee Friday with a bonus consisting of a week's salary with additional amounts for each year of service.

Rohm & Haas Company employees received nice gifts—each getting $5 for each year of service up to five years, and all employed five years or more receiving $25 each.

Patterson Parchment Paper Co. arranged for bonus payments of a week's salary to each employee, with an additional $5 to each toward family Christmas dinners.

The bonus for each employee of Manhattan Soap Co. is a week's pay, the bonuses to be distributed at a Christmas party arranged for this afternoon at the plant. A dinner will be served and plant employees will provide entertainment.

Thomas L. Leedom Co., Friday, presented each employee with a gift of $10. A party sponsored by union (CIO) members in the plant, was scheduled for Friday evening in Sons of Italy Hall. Office employees participated in a dinner at the Keystone Hotel last evening.

The Bristol Trust Co. is paying its customary bonus to employees.

At Hunter-Wilson Distilling Co. plant every employee received a cash bonus. These were presented at the beginning of the week, and were based on years of services. The amounts range up to $25.

Lawrence Manufacturing Co. paid bonuses on December 12th, this being $12.50 to each employee who

Buildings Here Take On Festive Appearance

Bristol has taken on a festive appearance for the holidays by the decorations on a number of buildings here.

The Bristol Municipal Building, Pond and Mulberry streets, is attractive in white, green and red lights and laurel. The portion of the building devoted to the fire department is trimmed with red lights, while the lights over the main entrance are white and those over the entrance to the police department are green.

The Knights of Columbus Home is decked in red and green lights while lights of various colors are festooned at the Elks Home, the Bracken Post Home and the I. O. O. F. hall.

Upon the roof of the Harriman Hospital there is a sleigh drawn by two reindeer and Santa riding in the sleigh. Small Christmas trees are outlined in lights around the top of the building while the windows contains wreaths and the doorways are outlined in lights.

The club house of St. Ann's A. A., Wood and Franklin streets, is decked in lights and presents a very attractive appearance.

A number of private residences about town are also festooned.

Mrs. Clara Lefferts Dies After Long Illness

A well known and native resident of Bristol died this morning in a convalescent home in Langhorne.

The deceased, Clara A., wife of the late James W. Lefferts, had been ill for over a year. She became a patient at the convalescent home on Saturday, December 14th. Previous to this she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. M. D. Weagley, Mulberry street.

Death was due to a complication of diseases and the deceased was 81 years old. She was born in Bristol and had resided here all of her life.

Mrs. Lefferts was a member of the Bristol Presbyterian Church, and numerous of the church's organizations; Bristol W. C. T. U.; and the Needlework Guild.

The survivors are her daughter, Mrs. Weagley; one son, William J.; grandson, Francis C.; and great granddaughter, Barbara Joan.

HERE ON VISIT

Miss Mary Brady, of Norristown, is enjoying a holiday vacation with relatives in Bristol.

GREETINGS OF THE SEASON

The management of The Bristol Courier extends wishes for a Merry Christmas to all subscribers, advertisers and friends.

The Bristol Courier will not be published tomorrow, Christmas Day, and the office of The Bristol Printing Co. will be closed in observance of the holiday.

Pope Questions Validity of Atlantic Charter

Rome—Pope Pius XII, in an eloquent triple appeal to world leaders in behalf of peace, today questioned validity of the Atlantic Charter, expressed universal fears of a new war and denounced atheism along with the atom bomb.

The Supreme Pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church again appealed to all religions to unite in establishment of peace "within the new year."

He uttered a grave warning in his Christmas Eve broadcast that world leaders "instead of having their names written in gold may one day be publicly disowned and impeached as authors of world ruin."

Pope Pius labeled the atomic bomb as "the spectre of hell." With regard to the Four Freedoms, he said:

"When the Atlantic Charter first was announced, the peoples of the world all listened—at least one could breathe."

THE PRINCE OF PEACE

And the United Nations—the great streamlined rebuilding of the vanished dream of Woodrow Wilson, the League of Nations?

It is still alive, still doing business—but has it proven its success? Has it done anything to justify hope? Little as yet. Beneath its surface are visible the same old human weaknesses which have cancelled out all other such programs of history—defeatism, greed, self-interest, willingness to trade principles for expediency.

Scores of its decisions can be pointed to as master-strokes of juggling and placatory politics—but not one which stands as a ringing and courageous upholding of abstract justice. Thus far it has been building nothing—merely playing checkers.

It is easier to see our neighbor's weaknesses, at times like these, than estimate our own. Britain's plight is monumental. She is financially bankrupt, and almost as bad in morale.

The Christmas report of her Foreign Secretary Bevin is a strange document. While expressed in terms of forced optimism, it reveals most clearly the divided opinion and mass uncertainty of the English people, as well as confessing with astounding frankness the extent to which this "mistress of the seas" has become mired in the mud.

Bevin frankly recognizes the growing challenges which have been made in England to his Labor Party's foreign and domestic policy—the fires from the Left because it is not sufficiently pro-Russian, the fires from the Right because it is insufficiently pro-British.

Bevin's government stands on slippery middle ground, with all the political liabilities of being able to please neither of the two growing dissenting wings. What has he to say? That he is doing the best he can with an almost impossible situation.

He "can only hope" that the buffer-state program aimed at keeping Russia from Italy's throat, and the Yugoslavs and Austrians from dominating the Mediterranean, will work out in practice. That the great powers of the world still are rendering at least lip-service to United Nations is a matter of satisfaction. The veto clause still is a burning question, he confesses—but hopes it may be worked out.

When it comes to the estimate of Britain's status, and her future, he presents an appraisal which, under examination, is perhaps as staggering as any that proud race ever listened to. He confesses that Britain has emerged from the war, not the mighty nation of the past, but a second-rate power.

"The war left two great powers preponderant," he says, "the United States of America and Soviet Russia." These, he adds, are the major land powers of the earth; and such domain as England still has is mostly over the barren seas. His one promise is that, if his party is allowed to rule, England "will still take her place as a great power."

Throughout, his speech is apologetic and defensive. On what ground? He says frankly what it is; and no American can afford to miss his point. Because he has been too cooperative with the United States; and because England's relations with Russia are said to be "not so close as they should be." With gentle understatement, he explains and justifies this anti-Russian drift with a challenge for that power to show "recognition that others equally have a right to their own way of life."

Across the English Channel, where the once-haughty nation of France is trying to scramble again to her feet, there is a strange contrast to the British reliance on Socialism, trade agreements, world politics and American loans.

Here the aged Leon Blum, so broken in health that doctors permit him only two hours of work a day, has been brought back into national leadership long enough to sponsor a new budget and financial program.

Blum is a Socialist; and the pre-war decadence of France, which rendered her so helpless a victim to Hitler, has often been laid to his dabbling with the theories of Communism.

Yet no capitalistic land, with the toughest hard-money plan in mind, could have supported a more harsh and realistic budget. It is one of the few in the world that really is balanced. Taxes are raised, and spending reduced—from military costs to government subsidies. If the French are willing to stand the "belt-tightening" involved, the road to financial stability is open to them. But it's a hard road.

Yet the "easiest road," which so many are following, is the one which leads down hill.

Peace is not in sight. Yet it could be. How?

One sentence of the counsel of the Prince of Peace tells the whole story—"the Golden Rule."

"Do unto others even as you would have them do unto you."

ome for her husband, George R. Keim, and revert to the daughter, his deceased. The husband and the daughter, who reside at 242 Walnut street, were named executors. Executed while he was stationed at the Army camp at Aberdeen, Md., on Nov. 14, 1944, Robert M. Halliwell, Plumstead township, in his will named his parents, Ethel K. B. and Herbert Halliwell, to receive one-fourth of his property and his wife, Louise G. Halliwell, as the residuary heir. The widow was named executor of the estate which was valued at $5,000 personal and $1,000 real estate. The testator died July 7, 1945. Fiddis Jones, Solebury township, who left a personal estate of $430 and real estate valued at $9, which consists of seven-tenths of an acre, named his "friend and stepson, Vincent Pinto," New Hope, sole beneficiary.

The testator who executed his will June 6, 1938, stated that he is not unmindful of brothers and sisters, but that his friend needed a state because of "illness." Mr. Jones died Nov. 15 and the real estate is a vacant lot.

Letters of administration in the estate of Edward Leatherman, unstead township, were granted to the Doylestown National Bank Trust Company, amounting to a personal estate of $3,000. A brother, Piercy Leatherman, Danboro, and a sister, Mrs. James Michener, rdenville, are the heirs. Mr. Leatherman died Oct. 26.

In the estate of Ella Mill, Bedminster township, letters of administration were granted to Erwin H. Ottensville, amounting to a personal estate of $4,000. Seven sons and five daughters are the heirs. Mr. Mill died Nov. 12. Josephine V. Nutt, 19 Chambers street, Morrisville, was granted the letters of administration in the estate of Russell Nutt, Morrisville, amounting to an estate of $200. Five daughters and a son are the beneficiaries. Mr. Nutt died Nov. 2.

Letters of administration in the estate of William F. Street, Middletown township, were granted to Julia Mae Rhoads, 17 Sunset avenue, Parkland, amounting to a personal estate of $3,000 and real estate in Parkland and Philadelphia.

placed in a cast. And the pin-up lamp, as well as some oranges came from a local women's organization. A former teacher remembered the bed-fast lad with a poinsettia plant; while a sixth ward woman paid him a visit this week with gifts of homemade cookies, candy and some money.

And all the way from New Brunswick, N. J., came a big red basket decked with artificial poinsettias. And nestling in the depths of the basket were jelly, apple butter, cakes, candy, and the like. And a local business man sent a half bushel of fruit.

"I have $20 altogether in Christmas money," reports "Bob," who is buying some things he has been needing. Five dollars was from American Legion Auxiliary of Robert W. Bracken Post, and the remainder from relatives and friends. "Did you know the high school kids came and sang carols for me?" asked the thrilled boy, as he related how the pupils formed a long line beside the house and sang one Christmas song after another a few days ago.

Lack of Cash Threatens Appeal Needed by Hill

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 24—A court case in which Bucks Countians are interested may have to be dropped in the courts of New Jersey due to a lack of funds, it is stated.

The appeal of Clarence Hill, Trenton, N. J., convicted in the Duck Island murder case in Hamilton Township may have to be dropped for lack of funds. This was revealed today.

Malen S. Burnett, acting chairman of the Clarence Hill Defense Committee, declared at least $2,000 is needed to complete the printing of the record for presentation to the Court of Errors and Appeals the first Tuesday in February. The court made an order in October last that unless the appeal is ready at the February term the writ will be dismissed.

Rev. John O. Wilson, pastor of St. Phillips Baptist Church of White City, who is chairman of the Committee, has had very little success in enlisting continued interest, he said. Robert Queen, councillor in the case, says that the printed record should be in his hands not later than the first week in January for him to properly prepare and present the brief, which will contain 100 points raised in the course of three weeks' trial.

Hill is now in the New Jersey State Prison. He is under a life sentence.

Is There A Santa Claus?

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

"Dear Editor: "I am eight years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says 'If you see it in The Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

"VIRGINIA O'HANLON, "115 West Ninety-fifth Street"

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not even the strongest man, not even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Suitable Memorial For Servicefolk Discussed

YARDLEY, Dec. 24—Representing a number of organizations, 25 people gathered in Yardley Community Center a few nights ago to discuss a suitable memorial for service women and service men of Yardley and Lower Makefield.

The following officers were elected: President, Joseph Loth; secretary, A. Marie Kelly, and treasurer, James J. Colson.

Mr. Loth asked the organizations to send two representatives to future meetings, and if possible to send the same representatives to each meeting. He also explained after much discussion from the floor that the idea of a suitable memorial is to be carefully and thoroughly discussed and outlined in all details before any vote on the final plans will be taken.

The secretary was told to send a letter to each organization making clear the idea of the group. The memorial is to be a Yardley-Lower Makefield memorial and all persons in the community have been asked to submit ideas which they may have.

The next meeting will be held January 28 at 8.30 p. m. in the recreation room of the community center.

Quakertown Students To Participate in Forum

QUAKERTOWN, Dec. 24—For a "Model Day in Congress," sponsored annually by the Civil Forum League of Temple University, Philadelphia, Quakertown students have been honored.

The "Model Day" will be February 20th.

Mary Biehn, Sidney Heimbach and Miss Anna Neumann, representing Quakertown high school, went to Temple University a few days ago to participate in the tryouts for positions as officers. Miss Biehn was assigned to the chairmanship of a sub-committee and Miss Sidney was appointed sergeant-at-arms. The topic under discussion on the Day in Congress will be labor relations.

The Great Game of Politics

with the professional "liberals," does not seek such an alliance, is not in accord with their present plans and is not afraid to say so, which is very encouraging, indeed.

MR. STASSEN conveyed all this by an emphatic expression of disapproval of the labor plans which are aimed at another wave of great strikes. He warned against this, expressed the view that a general wage increase in the next six months would be injurious to the workingman; declared that, if instead of striking, labor kept steadily at work production would go up, prices of food and clothing would go down and this would mean a real increase in wages. Now, this is not the doctrine of the professional liberals—it is the exact reverse of that doctrine. And Mr. Stassen followed with a scathing indictment of the so-called Nathan report upon which the CIO is basing its campaign to bring about exactly the things of which Mr. Stassen warned. The gist of this report is that wages could easily be raised 24 per cent without raising prices.

MR. STASSEN not only denounced the foundation and the argument of this report but said that "even its simple arithmetic" was wrong. The "true liberals" of the Murray Reuther, Wallace, Pepper type did not relish that indictment, but a lot of other people did. It by no means makes Mr. Stassen unfriendly to labor but it has enhanced his general stature in the country as a man of sense, fairness, judgment and courage. In effect, it places him against the closed shop, which already has been opposed by his ready hand, Senator Hall and Minnesota friend, Senator Hall. And it puts him in practically full opposition to the CIO campaign, recently announced by the uncouth Mr. Murray and his truculent young aide, Mr. Reuther. It also lines him up against such advocates of the "true liberalism" as Mr. Wallace, the New Republic, the Nation, the Daily Worker and the CIO senatorial stoges.

NONE of these makes any pretense of liking the Stassen stand, and so clear is the cleavage that it becomes the height of absurdity for both to call themselves "true liberals." Perhaps, after considering the facts, Mr. Stassen will conclude that the definition of those words as descriptive of himself has become ridiculous and in his next utterance will either drop them altogether—or gradually, by sharply differing with the professional "true liberals" on current labor issues he has advanced himself in the general regard and at least partially shaken off a stigma, by relinquishing to them the "true liberalism" lingo he can wholly shake it off.

THE nonsense of the "true liberalism" phraseology was never better illustrated than during a recent Stassen press conference when a realistic reporter pressed him for a definition of "true liberalism." After some hesitation, Mr. Stassen replied that "true liberalism" is a philosophy of life which seeks the maximum freedom—social, economic, political and religious—for the individual man and woman, consistent with the enjoyment of the same degree of freedom by his fellow man." To this platitudinous pronouncement it is quite sure Senator Robert Taft, whom the professional "true liberals" regularly and unjustly picture as a reactionary old guardman would heartily subscribe.

AS a matter of fact, who would not except perhaps those "true liberals" whose aim is to promote economic chaos by insisting upon unequal privileges for a special class. It would be to Mr. Stassen's political advantage—and very gratifying to many of his friends—who would cut all ties with this repudiated and entirely phony group of political posturers. He went a long way toward doing so in his latest statement. He could make the job satisfyingly complete if he would stop talking their ridiculous language. Mr. Stassen, who would make a very good President, should cast aside these shoddy adjectives; let the facts and his own views speak for themselves. They are good enough.
